

Jeremy Thille

Senior Web Developer,
Global Databases Division,
World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), Geneva

Jeremy Thille has been the lead developer of several applications at WIPO since 2017, including Pat-INFORMED, which he developed end-to-end, from scratch.

Prior to working at WIPO, he has forged his experience as a developer in several Swiss companies including the Swiss television and Nespresso, as well as at Sky television in London and most importantly at Google in Ireland. Before WIPO, he has also taught on web technologies in Geneva.